

Looking At You

Looking at you now I wonder how we got this far
Looking at you now I wonder who you really are Looking at you now I'm a traveler in a distant land

Looking at you now I'm wandering down the jet-black tar
Looking at you now I'm focused on a distant star
Looking at you now I'm thinking of a brand-new plan

But when I look in your eyes
I see so clear
And I know everything is here
And when I look in your eyes
I have no fear
And all my doubts they disappear

Looking at you now I'm shaking like a wind-blown leaf
Looking at you now my heart's lifted by a thief
Looking at you now I'm feeling both near and far

Looking at you now I'm climbing up a steep, steep hill
Looking at you now I'm learning if I have the will
Looking at you now I'm thinking of a brand-new plan

But when I look in your eyes
I see so clear
And I know everything is here
And when I look in your eyes
I have no fear
And all my doubts they disappear

Looking at you now I remember how we got this far
Looking at you now I know who you really are Looking at you now I'm closer than I've ever been

Looking at you now we'll walk on down the road
Looking at you now there are no debts to owe
Looking at you now every day is a brand-new plan